

2009 Chicken Dinner Road Race participants:

Your results are posted on the following pages. We apologize that it took so long to get these results. We had problems similar to last year in that our lines seem to have a difficult time reading the chip passings at the start/finish location which could be due to a number of things, such as underground power lines interfering with the readings.

We are working on getting the results as accurate as possible. The results won't be considered official until we are absolutely sure they are accurate.

If you notice a discrepancy in the results, feel free to email me about it and I will be sure to get it fixed and have a new version of the results out.

Thank you for participating!
